

Wei Huang, PhD, MBA, CFA

Senior Portfolio Manager

Wei joined the Stanley-Laman Group in 2020 as a Portfolio Manager. Wei is a CFA Charterholder and he earned an MBA in Finance from The Wharton Business School at University of Pennsylvania. He also holds a PhD in Engineering from the Ohio State University.

Wei has over 20 years of experience in international equity investments. Prior to joining Stanley-Laman, Wei spent 4 years as a Managing Director and Portfolio Manager at Epoch Investment Partners, an institutional equity manager in New York with a peak asset of over $50b. While at Epoch, he helped run both the international small cap and global small cap funds. In addition, he contributed investment ideas to other products in the firm, such as the emerging market, international large cap and global concentrated and capital return funds. Wei is also involved in the investment policy group focusing on macro issues in Asia.

Before Epoch, Wei spent 13 years as a Partner and Portfolio Manager at Philadelphia International Advisors (PIA), an institutional international equity fund with a peak asset of over $10b. While at PIA, he started as an EM and global TMT specialist and was running the main international fund for the last three years of his tenure there.

Prior to venturing into the investment field, Wei was an accomplished engineer in the late 1990s working on NASA programs, and is an inventor of two patents.

He was borne in China and went to the Special Class for Gifted Young at the age of 15 at University of Science and Technology of China in 1983.

Outside of work, Wei enjoys spending all of his free time with his wife and two young daughters. He enjoys family travel, reading, sports activities and volunteering at local schools